

Patients undergoing surgical procedures in whom peripheral nerve blocks are used as part of the anesthetic technique or peri-operative analgesic management [PR IV.A.5.a).(2).(j)]
Patients with acute post-operative pain, including those with patient-controlled intravenous techniques, neuraxial blockade, and other pain-control modalities [PR IV.A.5.a).(2).(k)]
Patients whose peri-operative care requires specialized techniques [PR IV.A.5.a).(2).(l)]
A broad spectrum of airway management techniques (e.g., performance of fiberoptic intubation, and lung isolation techniques, such as double lumen endotracheal tube placement and endobronchial blockers) [PR IV.A.5.a).(2).(l).(i)]
Central vein and pulmonary artery catheter placement, and the use of transesophageal echocardiography and evoked potentials [PR IV.A.5.a).(2).(l).(ii)]